It's now even easier to view a customer's previous sale activity. Simply tap on the pie chart icon to reveal a pie chart, revealing invoice/outstanding order values.

Need to refer back to call logs quickly and easily? It's now possible. Simply highlight a customer record and tap on the 'Call Logs' bar to reveal historical visit logs.

Product Sales History (Enterprise Only)

mSeller Enterprise users now have the ability to browse order and invoice history per individual item. This useful information can be displayed and hidden within seconds, whether taking an order or simply browsing the catalogue.

Insufficient Stock Notification (Enterprise Only)

Overselling can lead to disappointment from all parties, which is why we have made it possible to notify the sales team when attempting to add products with insufficient stock available to meet their customer's order. This gives the sales force the option to place on back order, or decline.

Split Summary (Enterprise Only)

With just a simple scroll of the finger, the sales force can now view analysis of products available for instant and future delivery within a single transaction...another time-consuming task diminished with the powerful tools of mSeller.

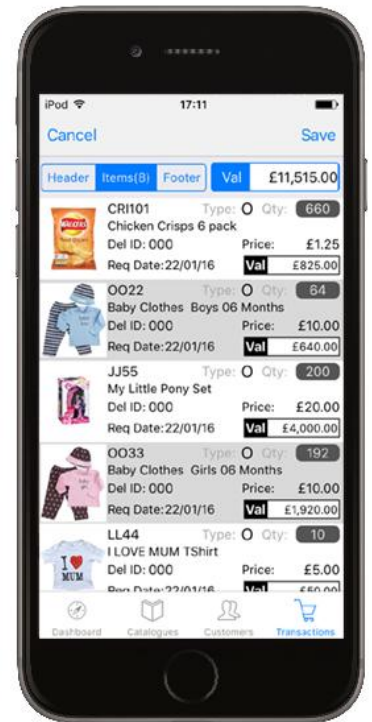

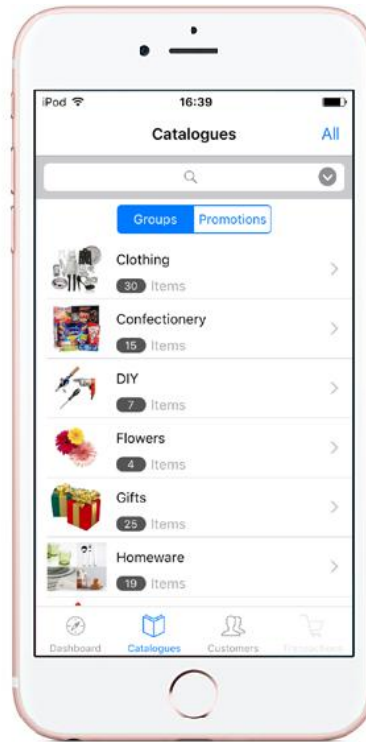

Even easier product filtering

We've made it even easier for users to filter their product search with the introduction of our new on-screen drop-down facility, containing your company's category, subcategory and promotional groups. The dropdowns are designed in such a way to make it almost impossible to return zero results. Most importantly, users now have the ability to access and filter all products from just one screen.
